Hi Lindsay,

You are correct, the address for ATC 15634 is 1201 W. Chestnut Avenue. My apologies.

We are still reviewing ATC 15748 for IPAP eligibility, and will get back to you with a decision on that ASAP.

Sincerely,

David Harris

Hi David,

Thank you for the comprehensive summary of our permit applications on file with the APCD and their associated statuses. We did receive a complete letter from Kevin Brown yesterday for the 1401 W. Central Ave Cannabis Storage facility ATC 15748 (see attached). Please let us know if this might be eligible for IPAP now that it is complete.

Also, it looks the address in the 5th row should be for 1201 W Chestnut - Cannabis ATC/PTO 15634, can you confirm?

Thank you,

Lindsay Cokeley

Hi David,

Thank you for your response.

Is there any way to get an IPAP for the cannabis license at 1401 W Central Ave, Lompoc?

This location is only for storage, no manufacturing, no packaging therefore nothing related to air quality issues. Is IPAP more specific to manufacturing? How do you recommend we get a standby emergency generator expedited for this location if it's only for storage?

Thank you for helping me better understand the process.

Hi Jeanette,

Thanks for the e-mail. We are currently reviewing all of your permit applications for IPAP applicability. In general, emergency standby engine permit are usually eligible for the IPAP program, and cannabis manufacturing is not. We will follow-up and let you know which permits qualify for the IPAP program, and get you IPAP agreements for the permits that do.

Please let me now if you have any questions or concerns.
